

State Authorization Status

State Authorization of Distance Education is a complex and dynamic environment. Prospective students should check this site often for updates.

Centenary University desires to deliver all of our fully online programs in every state, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. The complexity and fluidity of requirements in some jurisdictions, however, make this impractical.

Please see the listing below to find the state or other jurisdiction in which you currently reside and review its current status. If Centenary University cannot currently provide distance education in your state or other jurisdiction, please check back as this information can change.
